Adrienne Mayor is an independent folklorist/historian of science who investigates natural knowledge contained in pre-scientific myths and oral traditions. Her research looks at ancient “folk science” precursors, alternatives, and parallels to modern scientific methods. Mayor’s latest book, The Amazons: Lives and Legends of Warrior Women across the Ancient World, analyzes the historical and archaeological evidence underlying myths and tales of warlike women. Her work is featured on NPR and BBC, the History Channel, Smithsonian, the New York Times and National Geographic and her books have been translated into Russian, Turkish, Spanish, German, Hungarian, Italian, Japanese, Korean, Polish, and Greek.
